A screenshot of the "Add your email accounts" dialog box in Windows Live Mail. The title bar reads "Windows Live Mail". The dialog has a light blue background with a gradient. The text "Add your email accounts" is in green. Below it, it says "If you have a Windows Live ID, sign in now. If not, you can create one later. Sign in to Windows Live". There are two input fields: "Email address:" with the example "joeblow@yourdomain.com" and "Password:" with "....". To the right of the password field, it says "Most email accounts work with Windows Live Mail including Hotmail, Gmail and many others." There are three checkboxes: "Remember this password" (checked), "Display name for your sent messages:" with "Joe Blow" entered, "Make this my default email account" (checked), and "Manually configure server settings" (checked). At the bottom right, there are "Cancel" and "Next" buttons. A red arrow points to the "Next" button.
